

HERE ON

In addition to our favorite work, we always do projects that are completely different. This year it was an urban development project:

HERE ON, the conversion of a 34,000-square-metre site at an exciting interface between a strip of remaining agricultural landscape and a former industrial area. Situated directly on the boundary between Stuttgart and the town of Fellbach, the opportunity arose to create a modern gateway to the city that forges a visual bridge to the high-rise building on the opposite eastern side of the city.

We are pleased that the concept with the partial preservation and conversion of a 1960s industrial company building, combined with a new multi-purpose urban district and a high-rise, met with broad approval, but due to the current situation it is unlikely to be realised.

FINALISED BUT . . .

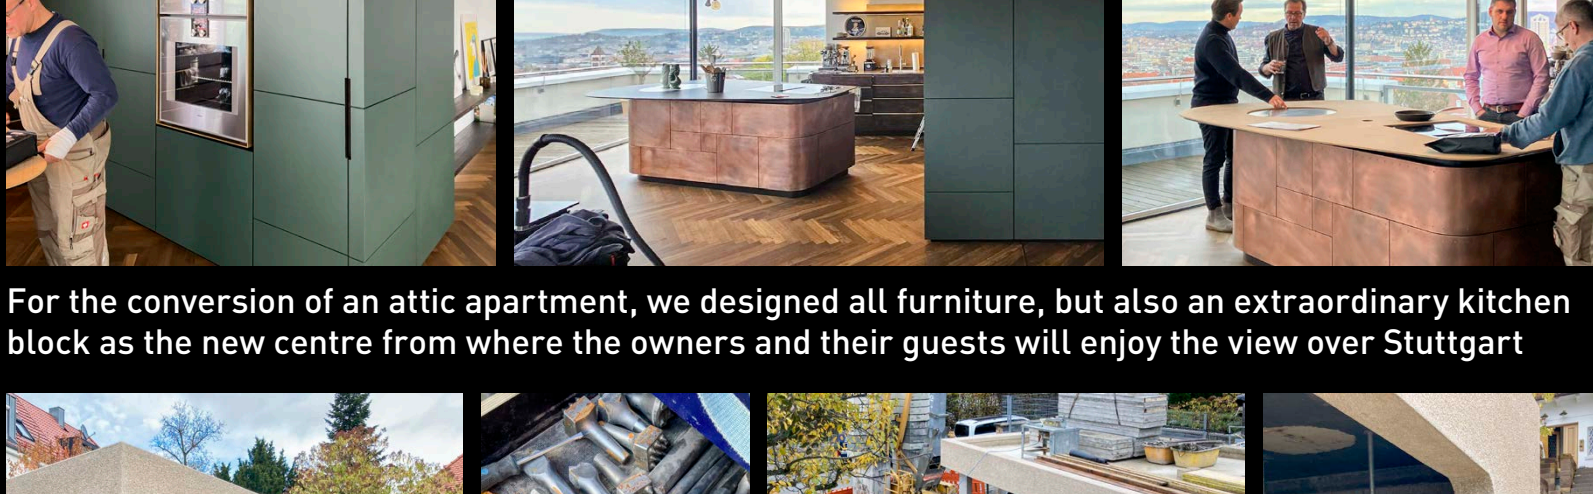

4 projects have been finalised this year, but we have not managed yet to have them documented by our favourite photographer . . . we hope it will work out in 2024.

PORTUS House

RUTSCHENHAUS

PARKSIDE Bungalow

LAKE HOUSE

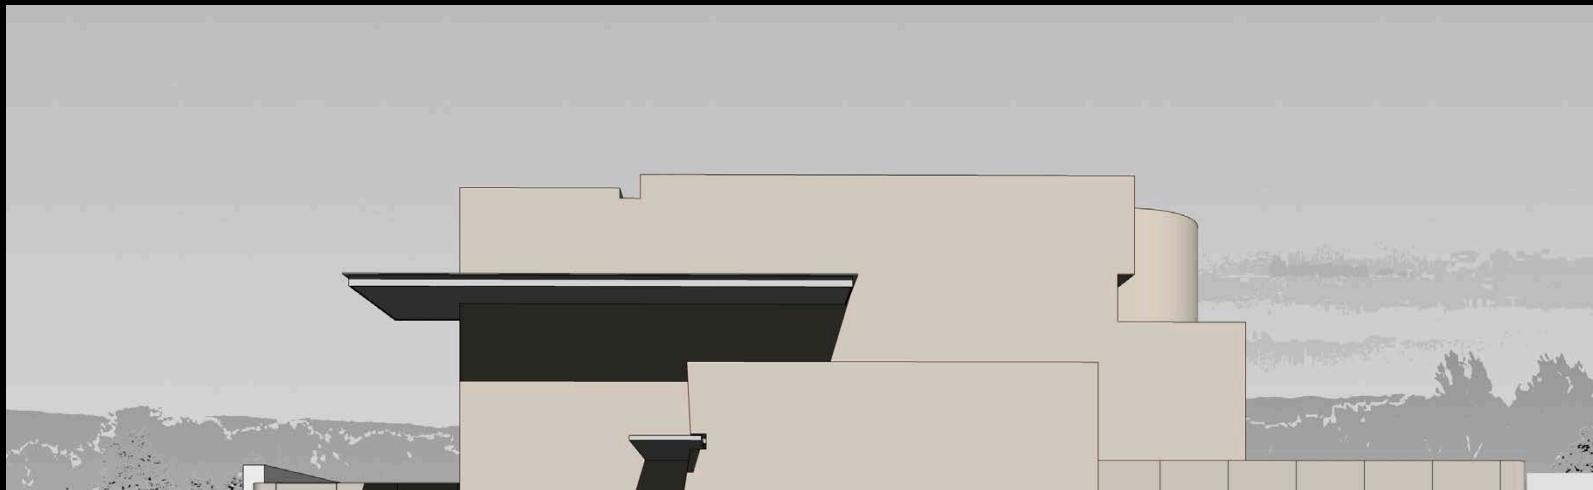

FROM OUR CURRENT CONSTRUCTION SITES

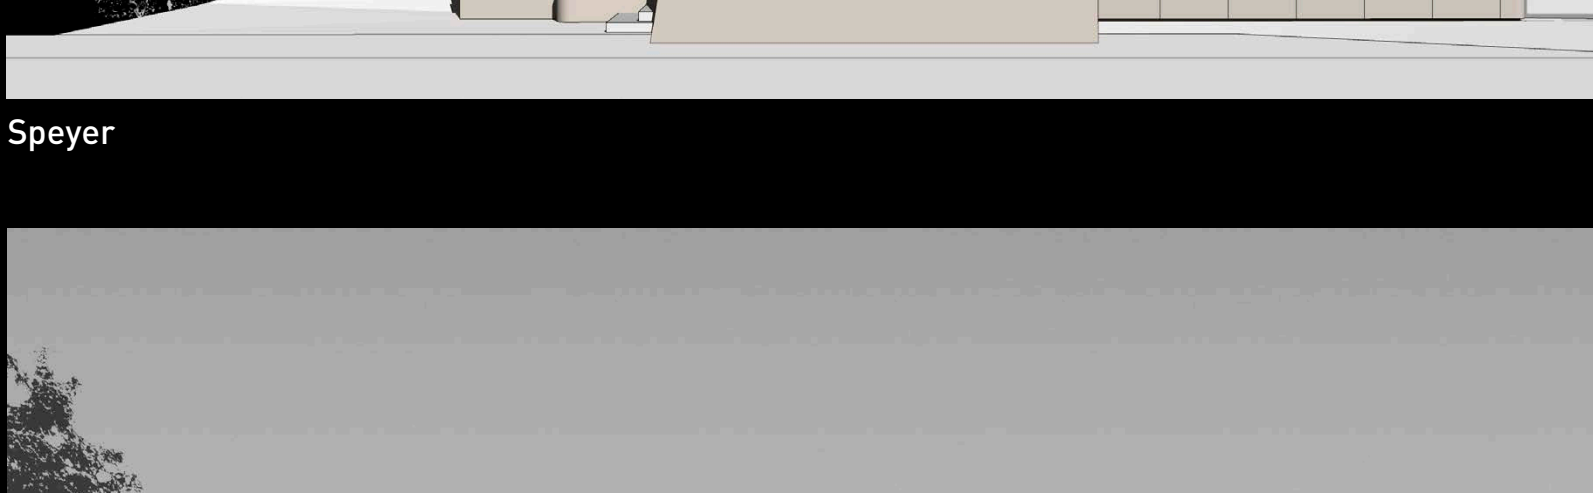

To restore the house in which the restaurant MITTE will later be located, we reused building materials and we covered the roof with historical tiles

For the conversion of an attic apartment, we designed all furniture, but also an extraordinary kitchen block as the new centre from where the owners and their guests will enjoy the view over Stuttgart

A garage extension was planned for the house in Stuttgart Degerloch, which is currently in the phase of concrete processing

The windows are installed in time for winter and one of the angels is already guarding the house

After dreaming about it for a long time, this summer it was time to design the GUARDIAN ANGEL. It was welded together perfectly by our swiss friends and two of three sculptures are already in place, one of them is in our studio garden and so we feel well protected :) :)
