CURRENT PROJECTS

Work at HOUSE RUDOLPH, Stuttgart is striding ahead.

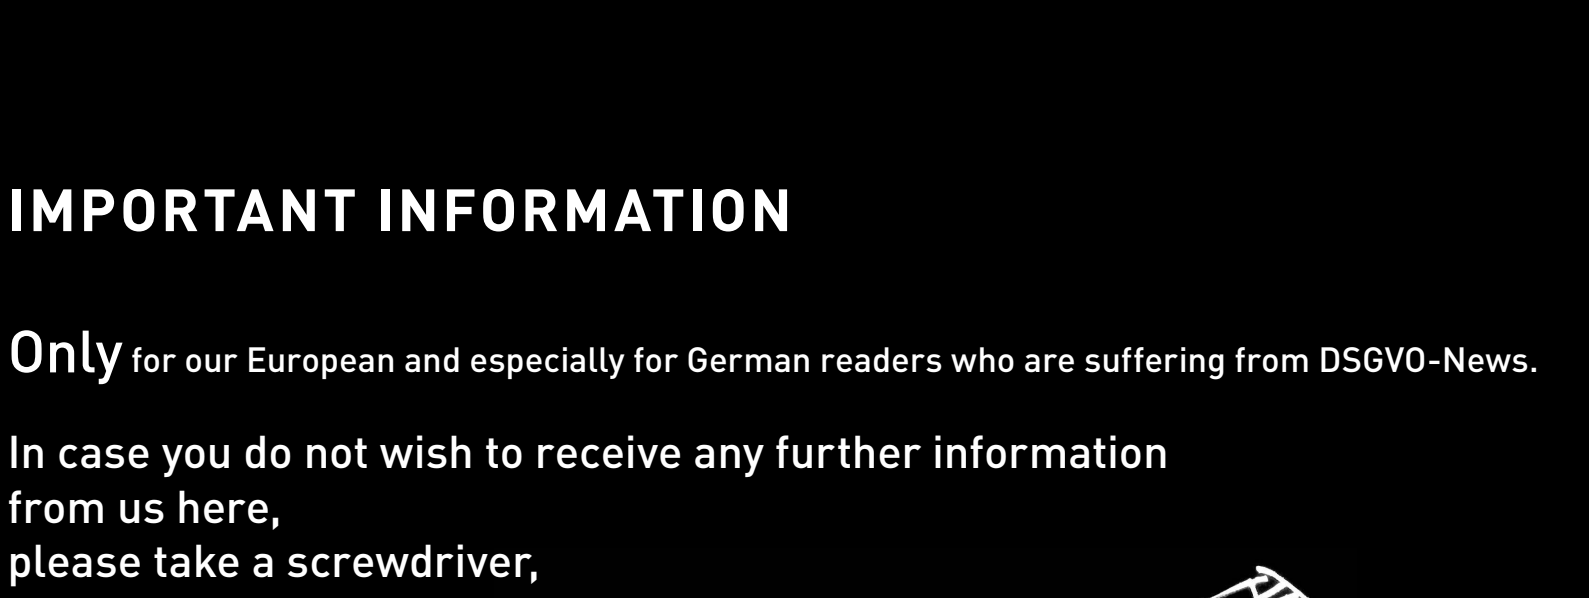

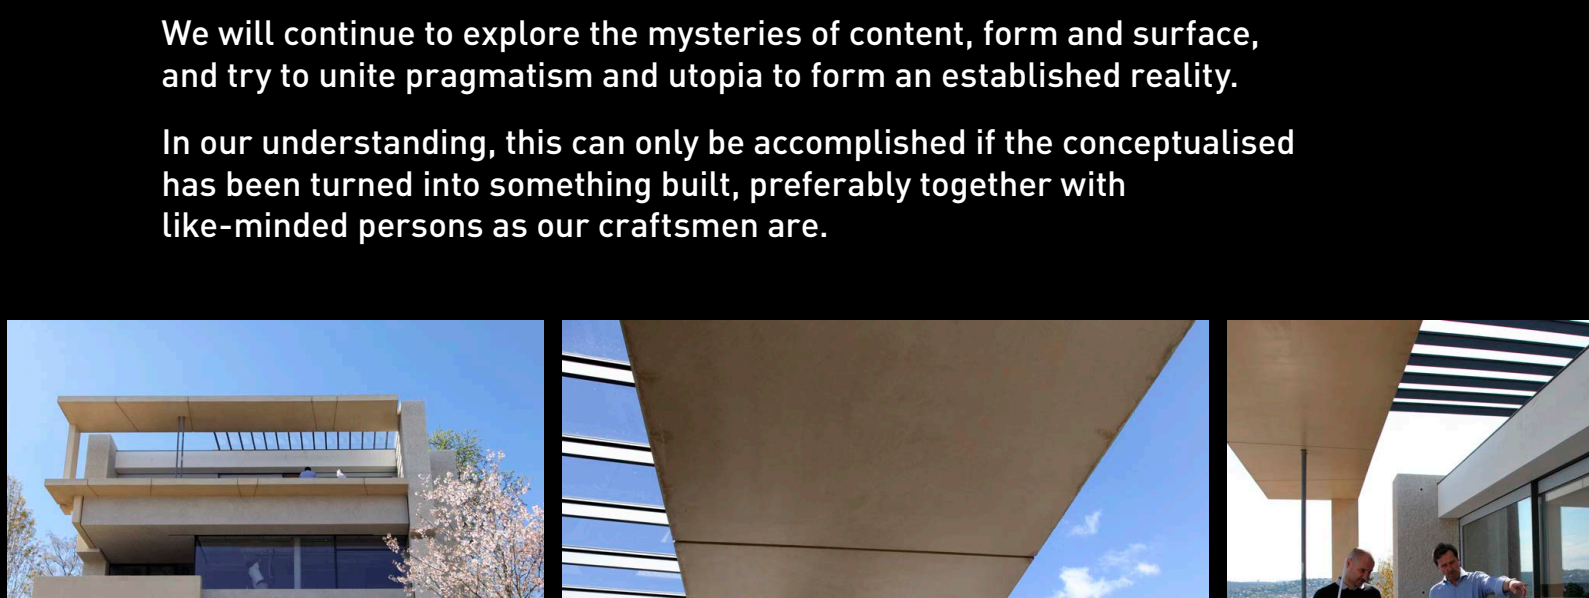

PARLER RESEARCH HOUSE PR39

With this house - PR39 - we believe to have consistent ideas for the future, but we will constantly check and analyse their validity and then draw up the courage to also implement them.

Not every idea has to work out easily and be immediately successful, but that is exactly what makes this work unique and exciting, and we regard it as a great opportunity to further our own development.

We will continue to explore the mysteries of content, form and surface, and try to unite pragmatism and utopia to form an established reality.

In our understanding, this can only be accomplished if the conceptualised has been turned into something built, preferably together with like-minded persons as our craftsmen are.

PR39 - Many thanks to all who participate with great enthusiasm in the success of this work.
