

IN THE PAST WEEKS . . .

Shortly before the final completion, Max Leitner has photographed the Rudolph House beforehand. The final shooting will take place at the end of June.

Filming for a report in the SWR Landesschau in the Brenner Research House PR39 and in our studio at the beginning of June. We will gladly inform you about the broadcasting date.

CURRENT PROJECTS

LAKE HOUSE, Bodensee - The interior work is progressing and a visit to this site is always a great pleasure - even on weekends.

PARKSIDE, Melsungen - Shortly before the finish line, meetings to define the final touches are important and helpful. The work progresses and seeing the results of our ideas is always a pleasure.

Villa Portus, Pforzheim - Just in time for the start of the planting work, the spring sun shines. With the anticipation of summer, it's twice as much fun to catch up with clients and share views with them and the team . . .

. . . and selecting the final materials for the interior surfaces.

FLYING VISIT TO AN EARLY PROJECT

Being guest at House im Weinberg - our very first house built in refined concrete, designed in 2012. It was a prototype for succeeding projects like Brenner Research House and Fineway House.

SITES IN CONJUNCTION WITH NEW PROJECTS

In the first months of the year there were some nice trips to beautiful spots to explore their potential and possibilities.

SOME NEW PUBLICATIONS

FINEWAY HOUSE and BREDENEY HOUSE in the book BUNGALOW DESIGN, Braun Publishing

BRENNER RESEARCH HOUSE PR39 and BREDENEY HOUSE in the book HORTUS CONCLUSUS, Braun Publishing

SHARING MY HOME AND GARDEN

Like every year, the squirrels build a nest in the alcove of my pantry window, which gives me the opportunity to watch their offspring growing up. I am glad that I built my house in refined concrete, so the first climbing attempts are as safe as possible.

