Stephan Godel is the manufacturer of our special concrete for the research houses PR39 and PR41. Together with our construction-builder Horst Köhler we visited him in April 2016.

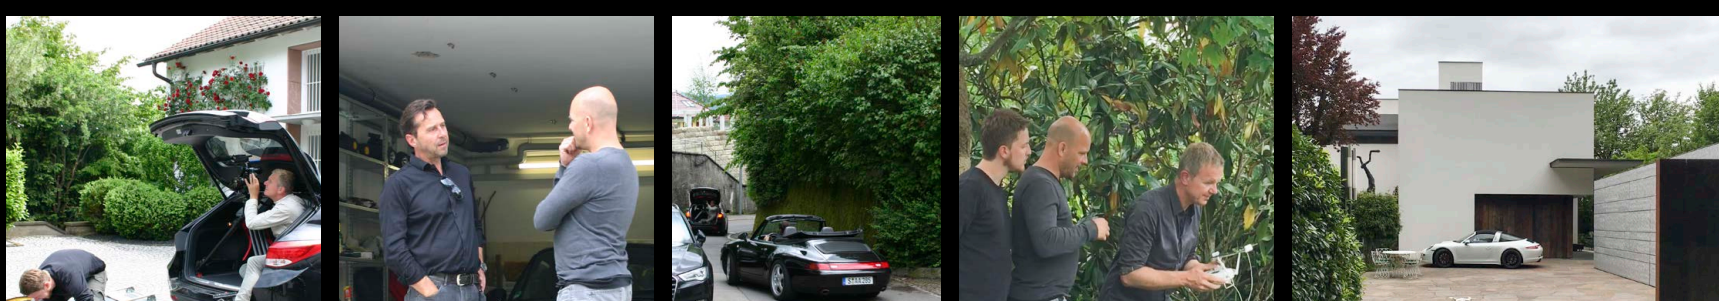

Rome - the perfect place for studying the succesful use of durable stone structures and for exploring the mysteries of unique form and surface and established reality, April 2016

May 2016 - I found my stone!
For many years and especially at church and monastery walls I spotted a profound, bright, shining stone. This stone seemed to be no longer available these days, but I desired to see and feel this formerly famous stone in its origin. After a long search I finally discovered it in an abandoned quarry not too far away.
The quarry seems to be closed down for a long time and indeed most of the year there is a heavenly peace over this place. But not every day, because the current owner of the quarry mines and recovers some blocks if needed and requested. What a fortune for us.
